CPAP/BIPAP Machine/Mask

BiPAP (also referred to as BPAP) stands for Bilevel Positive Airway Pressure, and is very similar in function and design to a CPAP machine (continuous positive airway pressure). They are used to deliver pressurized air through a mask to the patient's airways.

Fully Electric Hospital Bed (Adjustable)

A hospital bed is a bed specially designed for hospitalized patients or others in need of some form of health care. These beds have special features both for the comfort and well-being of the patient and for the convenience of health care workers.

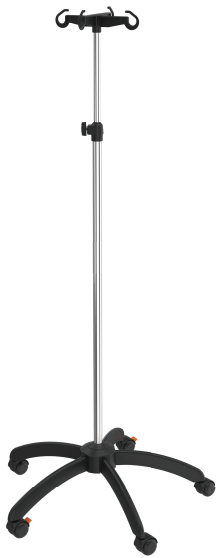

Ripple Mattress

Ripple Mattresses also known as air mattresses are at the top of the pressure relief range. They work by inflating a section of the cells inside the mattress at different intervals so as to alternate the pressure on one's body.

Medical Side Draws

Bedside Lockers: Practical and versatile storage solutions designed for healthcare settings, bedside lockers are compact cabinets positioned near a patient's bed.

IV Stand

A drip stand, also known as an intravenous (IV) stand or infusion stand, is a medical device designed to hold and support bags or bottles containing intravenous fluids or other medical solutions.

Oxygen Concentrator

An oxygen concentrator is a medical device designed to deliver a concentrated flow of oxygen to individuals who require supplemental oxygen therapy.

Oxygen Tank

These are portable oxygen cylinders which contain compressed oxygen gas.

Suction Machine

"Suction Machine" typically refers to a portable medical suction unit designed for removing fluids, secretions, or debris from a patient's airway or other parts of the body

Commodes

Wheelchair reclining, This is a portable toilet that can be placed at the bedside of a patient whose activity is limited; these are often used in the home when the patient is too debilitated to reach the bathroom.

Wheelchair

A wheelchair is a chair with wheels, used when walking is difficult or impossible due to illness, injury, old age related problems, or disability.

Infusion pump is a medical device that delivers fluids, nutrients, or medication into a patient's body in a controlled manner

Syringe pump

Syringe pumps enable clinicians to deliver intravenous rehydration fluids, nutrition, and drugs to infants.

Overbed feeding table

With a strong metallic frame, the tables are easy to sterilize and very sturdy. They are also very portable with easy-rolling wheels.
